FOREWORD

FOR Fall.

GREETINGS and thank you for your fine orders of last season. With our increased plantings (now over 11½ acres), we will do our best to fill your orders promptly with the finest and hardiest stock available. This past year we have been fortunate in being able to add many novelties from England, France, and Canada, in addition to securing the best of the new at home.

We have given in condensed form, as ample description as space permits for the number of varieties we list. Stock on many varieties we list this year for the first time is very limited. If you are interested in varieties not listed, write, in all probability we have the variety or can secure it for you. Next year we hope to have a larger and finer catalog for your use.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Geiser

We are firm believers in the performance of many of the older not-so-often-listed varieties of iris . . . that is why we are ardent collectors of them and it is our endeavor to preserve many of the sorts which are fast passing out of general commerce. We constantly have a "want list" of over 200 of these scarce and almost forgotten iris. If you have something unusual to offer and it is not listed in this catalog . . . write, or better still ask for our "Want List."

We have customers in every state; our plants do well anywhere. Since we are located in the "wheat belt" of an extremely long growing season we have shipped plants from earliest spring until the ground freezes. Every plant we sell is grown naturally and hand dug. A trial order will convince you of their quality and hardiness.

As a slight change in our policy from previous years, this season we are substituting on varieties sold out, with a variety equally as good or higher priced unless you advise us not to substitute. If advised not to substitute, refunds promptly made. It is to your advantage to name one or more substitutes when placing your order. For complete terms of sale, see inside back cover.

Sincerely,

ALICE M. GEISER

Revised Iris Classification

Just as this catalog was going to press, we received advance information from the American Iris Society that a Revised Classification of Bearded Iris has been adopted. We regret we could not incorporate all details of this revision in the arrangement of our catalog, however, in brief the revision is as follows:

Subgenus Eupogon Iris (Dwarf, Intermediate, Tall) is the common bearded iris comprising the majority of existing garden varieties. Distinction between Dwarf, Intermediate, and Tall is no longer based on height alone but is based on true characteristics and chromosome count. Each section now has its own seasonal classification for blooming.

Subgenus Pogon Iris (Oncocyclus, Regelia, Regeliocyclus) are made up from the Oncocyclus and Regelia bearded iris with rhizomes mostly elongated and stoloniferous.

Subgeneric Hybrid classes (Eupogoncyclus, Eupogcregelia and Miscellaneous Bearded) have been set up to take care of the many generic crosses coming from the hands of present day hybridizers.

Watch our new 1949 catalog for groupings and arrangement along the above lines.

NEW BOOK ON IRISES

The American Iris Society has published a book on "IRISES," containing a consensus of opinions and experiences of leading members. Well bound and illustrated, it will be a most useful book for the casual gardener as well as the iris enthusiast. Price of permanent binding is $2.50—paper binding $1.50. This is a book you can't afford to be without and is worth many times the price asked. They also make excellent gifts for your friends. Order direct from us.

See our special offer to new members mentioned elsewhere in this catalog.

The height immediately follows the name with relative season of bloom shown by letters E-Early, M-midseason, or L-late. Fragrance denoted by * and tenderness by %. American Iris Society permanent ratings (based on 100 as perfect flower) immediately precedes color description. Medal winners in previous years are indicated by the following letters shown after the description. DM-Dykes Medal, AM-Award of Merit, HM-Honorable Mention, GM-Gold Medal, SM-Silver Medal.

Varieties listed in very small print are mainly oldtime favorites of Iris collectors having been introduced several years ago. These will be listed under Iris Collector's Items (see section by this name elsewhere in this catalog) when their popularity no longer warrants us listing them with full descriptions.

OVERSEAS NOVELTIES

This season we are offering some of the iris novelties as procured from overseas. These are all listed in heavy black type—watch for them. Every one of these varieties are now growing in our gardens, however, our stocks are so limited that we will import the stock to fill all orders. These varieties will be shipped separately upon arrival from overseas.

Spuria Iris make lovely corsages

SPURIA IRIS

This group has leaves resembling the Siberian Iris but much coarser; roots resemble a rooster spur, and flower stalks somewhat resembling glad spikes which makes them so much in demand for corsages and cut flowers. They come into bloom right after the peonies. Cultural directions furnished. Since these are shipped separately from the bearded iris, orders from this section must total $2.00 or more—if not, add 25c to cover postage and handling.

Shipments made in early spring and after September 1st only.
